

VOLLEYBALL ACTION

Monday, March 01, 2010

Some of Australia's best beach volleyballers showed off their skills at the Vic Beach Virgin Blue Regional Beach Volleyball Series in Moama during the past three days.

Thirty-two athletes, including a three-time Olympian and FIBA World Tour and World Championship players, were among those to take to the court, which was created from 200 tonnes of sand brought in to Moama Sports Club.

There was plenty of action, with matches being played Friday night, all day and well into the night on Saturday and all day yesterday.

There was also a corporate challenge and a club challenge on Friday afternoon. Story and more photos, page 21

Captions:

Set up: Julia Baldauf gets underneath the ball on Saturday. Photo: LAURA BUCKLEY

Final battle: Rhi Watts (left) and Lauren Spark in action in the women's final yesterday. Photo: MONIQUE PRESTON